HIMALAYAN HEMP BAGS dyes

with cotton linings and vegetable

Hemp is the oldest and strongest natural fiber known having been cultivated for over 12,000 years.

In Nepal Hemp fiber has been used for centuries in the mountainous regions of Nepal because of its strength and durability Native to Nepal, hemp requires no cultivation or pesticides, and its production has become a valuable economic asset for the war torn villages of western Nepal.

These bags are deigned in the UK and made in craft workshop in Nepal for the benefit of the local communities.

They are supplied under 'Fair Trade' policies
